Shireen's Favorite Things

Dress to Impress: #NewYearsEve 2015

Another thing I want more of? THE FLORIDA KEYS. I guess at heart, I'm just a small town girl. When I head south, my troubles and nervousness disappears and everything just slows down a little. So, why not combine the two? With a car full of gorgeous gowns from HMS, I headed to Islamorada last weekend. Destination? Amara Cay Resort.

The fairly new seaside retreat is (for the most part), an undiscovered South Florida jewel; chic, modern, glamorous and accessible to the working professional. Along with a private beach, charmingly sleek rooms and a great restaurant (Oltremare, which I'm featuring this week on Spotlight,) it's the great escape I've been looking for or at least another reason to keep my newest resolutions...

"Dress to Impress" in HMS and spending more time in the Florida Keys are two promises I'm pretty sure I can keep. Not only that, I'm actually looking forward to it! Whatever you have planned for the New Year, I hope it greets you with health, happiness and a big dose of self acceptance. Happy 2016!
