

THE REEFS RESORT & CLUB APPOINTS NEW EXECUTIVE CHEF

Douglas Sisk Brings Experience & Excitement to Bermuda

SOUTHAMPTON, Bermuda – The Reefs Resort & Club announces Douglas Sisk as its executive chef. Sisk is an industry veteran with nearly three decades of experience who has cooked for Presidents George H.W. Bush and Bill Clinton, as well as the Prime Minister of Jamaica.

After his work as executive chef for the world-famous Sardine Factory Restaurant in California he joined Havana Club Enterprises and designed, opened and ran culinary operations for the 5-star private city clubs in Miami. He then joined the Atlantis Resort in Bahamas where he was in charge of culinary operations.

“Chef Sisk is already making his mark on our operations and we can’t wait to show our guests the exciting changes he has in store for them,” said David M. Dodwell, resort manager of The Reefs Resort & Club. “He understands what makes The Reefs and Bermuda a favorite destination and pairs that knowledge of our culture with a culinary expertise that will make your stay truly unforgettable.”

Sisk has already implemented a chef’s table experience at The Reefs, an exclusive eight-course dinner with personally selected wine pairings, limited to 25 guests staying at the resort in early June.

Sisk started in the restaurant industry at 14 years of age working as a busboy and dishwasher, and worked through all the kitchen positions before attending Sullivan University in Louisville, Ky., where he earned a degree in Culinary Arts and Hotel Restaurant Management.
